Just Like In-House Counsel...

Le Cavalier, Corporate Counsel provides businesses with legal services comparable to those of in-house counsel. Indeed, just like in-house counsel, we provide an integrated approach to legal services that is flexible, cost-effective and result-oriented.

We act primarily as a project lawyer for in-house corporate legal departments. On a basis of a number of days per week, by project or full-time for a given period, we can:

- complete key projects
- relieve workload increases
- fill in for a lawyer's absence
- handle critical functions
- provide on-going general legal advice on business law and financing

all on the business premises, if need be.

Experience

From 1997 to 2004, she was in-house counsel and assistant secretary for GE Canada Equipment Financing, working closely with the General Counsel. She managed legal risk for this General Electric subsidiary which finances equipment, aircraft, franchise and real estate. Accomplishments:

- Took over the interim management of the legal department for several months in 2003 and in 2004
- Advised on eight portfolio acquisitions worth over $10 millions, including two worth over $100 millions each
- Collaborated on several portfolio securitizations and syndications worth over $100 millions each
- Completed a large document and security interest registration procedures review, eliminating errors and substantially reducing funding time (for the financing of equipment, franchise, real estate and aircraft)
- Designed an internet platform to facilitate document management
- Managed the legal aspects of a major corporate restructuring
- Created a statutory compliance program across Canada
- Managed litigation
- Supervised lawyers and law students

From 1988 to 1997, she had a stimulating career in private practice with two large law firms (Bélanger, Sauvé and Coudert Brothers) in insolvency, financing and commercial litigation.
